To Whom it may Concern -

First of all, I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all those who voted me into this office; yes, it was a landslide victory, and, yes, I had no opponent. But, that's not the point.

I've learned a lot this year and have very much enjoyed being a Pemberton officer, it's certainly been an ... EXPERIENCE! (one never to be forgotten.)

I'd like to dedicate this year's scrapbook, to Nancy Cobetto "Our Faithful Leader." Without her constant "When are you gonna get that Darn scrapbook done", it may never have gotten done. Well Nancy, here it is!

A special "thanks" to Nancy Paloran who took pictures for me in my absence, and to Teri "Pixie" Carlson who helped me put the thing together.

Good luck to everyone in the future!

Thanks again.

Dear Miss Cabetto:

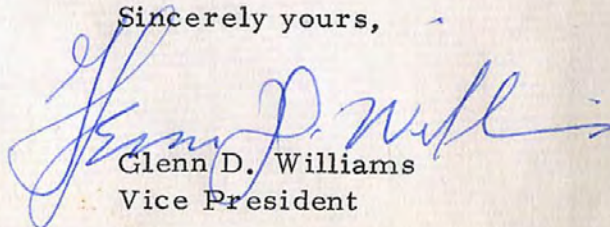

I wish you would tell the girls who participated in the play last Tuesday evening how much I enjoyed it and how very much I appreciate all the work that they put into the production. Certainly Cindi Urbaniak got the thing together well as Director and both Susan Balmer and Rachel Kramer fit the musical score into the actions in fine style.

I don't know what Teri Carlson did, but I suspect she was the one that saw to it no one fell going through the window and that everything was in place. That is important when you are stepping out into space.

The entire cast, Pam Swanson, Marie Schrecengost, Nancy Slusser, Nancy Jackson, Cindi Urbaniak (while not directing), Linda Morris, Sarah Hardaway, Julie Ohm and Cindy Wilson did a superb job.

You can tell when something has had a lot of work exerted on it and this production surely did. Both my wife and I appreciated the invitation to attend and enjoyed the performance.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Nancy :

3/19/81

I really enjoyed last night's performance. It would be a shame if a number of young people did not get a chance to see it.

Will you please extend my sincere appreciation to the actors. I know a lot of hard work goes into such things and I really enjoy seeing a good job done as a result of hard work.

Thanks again for a very enjoyable evening.

SENIOR WILLS
1981

NANCY FOSTER

I, Nancy Foster, being of sound mind and body do hereby bequeath the following:

To Vicky Russell, I leave a tape recording of me saying "Pancakes & Bacon" to remember me by.

I leave my little man to my roommate, Teresa Muchmore, in the hopes that I will no longer require his services. Maybe now she'll understand why I like to sleep in.

To Vicky and Teresa, I leave my desk drawers so you will have enough room for T-shirts.

To Melissa Paquin, I leave my natural curl so she won't need perms all the time. I also leave Melissa telephone calls for Ann. Her number is 2744.

To Maureen McNett, I leave my television set so she'll never have to miss General Hospital and Joe Kelly.

To Melinda Demlow, and Lisa Lee, I leave someone else with a car and a little brother so she can come look out their window and see if it's still there. Maybe she'll take them on a late night car stealing spree.

To Carol Kaschke, I leave a clock with 5 inch numerals so she'll know what time it is when she gets up in the morning.

The thimble-full of accounting knowledge left to Diane Riggs and me by Jeri Davin, we pass on to Mary Beth Mathews and Melissa Paquin.

To the floor, I leave my "Did anybody do anything exciting today?" to get the dinner conversation going.

To everyone in Pem I've been fortunate enough to call friend, I hope I leave you with as many happy memories as you hav given me.

DIANE RIGGS

I, Diane Riggs, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath the following items to the poor unfortunate souls I leave behind:

To Vicky Russell, I leave a lifetime supply of bus tickets to Champaign and all of the green M & M's in the world, and memories of "short walks" back from Mothers on Friday nights!

My ability to choose "good" music to listen to, I leave to Melinda Demlow in the hopes that someday she will acquire a collection of albums just as big as mine, especially the hit single "He's in the Navy Now".

The key to my room I leave to Teresa, "the thief". Muchmore so she doesn't have to steal anything anymore and can just come in and take things whenever she wants, and all of my curly hair as she requested it first.

To Maureen McNett, I leave my diligent study habits in the hopes that someday she will put them to good use and all of my green clothes to add to her Irish wardrobe.

I leave a new softball to Melissa Paquin to replace the one that got run over by a semi.

To Lisa Lee, I leave my typewriter and I return Tiger to her, now a more experienced man.

I also leave the thimble-full of accounting knowledge that Nancy Foster and I share to Mary Beth Mathews and Melissa Paquin for future use, although there is not much left now.

Last, but not least, to my roommate, Carol "Spidey Legs", Kaschke, I leave the following items:

- 1.)my brown sheets so she will have something to sleep on besides blue with white polka dots or pink, pink and more pink.
- 2.)my great ability to spell, because there is no way she would ever get a paper written without it.
- 3.)a tape recording of her favorite bedtime story, "The Three Bears", so she will be able to go to sleep at night, my ability to moan in my sleep and have really strange dreams.

To everyone else I leave correct pronunciation of a carbonated beverage ---"sodey", unforgettable memories and all my best wishes.

JANE QUISENBERRY

I, Jane Quisenberry, being of alcohol-soaked mind and body do hereby bequeath the following to those following the following:

To Angie Adams and Lori Jostes, the shared ability to say our favorite line from "The Exorcist".

To Lori Beckham, any jokes I may have forgotten to tell her and somebody else's guitar.

To Susan Buenker, something "Freudian".

To Patty and Caroline, the sincere hope that their falices never lose their shape or their usefulness and the request for an official invite to at least one of the thousand parties they'll have next year.

To Cathy Hamilton, the continued ability to abuse her ice cream privileges.

To all Food Service Workers, the sad thought that "Stud Cockroach" may be evicted over the summer and the hope that none of them have to work with our "Rona Barrett" next year.

To First Floor Dwellers, enough wierdness to get them through another year (I think they have enough leftover for several years.).

To Marie Schrecengost, soon cute freshman male to do her overdo artwork and other favors.

To Lori Acunclus and Rachel Kramer, a year's supply of cigarettes and new men to practice their talents on, or under, or beside.....

To Nancy Cobetto, a better organized hall president which she already got, someone else to bother her at any inopportune moments, and the wish that someday her prince will come and not get in an accident immediately after.

To my roomie, Denise Kunz, the floor of her choice, with the people of her choice, the man of her choice, and the grades of her choice.
