

MINOR IN AFRICANA STUDIES

WITH A MINOR IN AFRICANA STUDIES, YOU CAN EXPLORE KEY ASPECTS OF THE EXPERIENCES OF PEOPLES OF AFRICAN DESCENT

A minor in Africana Studies provides an interdisciplinary background that helps students develop analytical, critical thinking, and writing skills while gaining knowledge about the lives and conditions of people from African descent in Africa, the United States, Latin America, and other communities.

When paired with a major in another field, a minor in Africana Studies can enhance the employability of a student because of a deeper understanding of the African-American experience, culture, and history which many organizations will value. Training in this field can lead to a better appreciation of certain customers or clients.

Some students may choose to study Africana Studies because they enjoy the subject but wish to pursue careers requiring any major. In this scenario, it is critical to develop skills relevant to targeted field through internships, part-time or summer jobs, or volunteer experiences.

Africana Studies students are excellent candidates for a number of graduate school options because of their broad liberal arts background as well as specific interests that may set them apart from other students. For those wishing to pursue graduate education, maintain a high GPA, establish relationships with faculty to secure strong recommendations, and gain experience through volunteer, work, or research opportunities.
