LITERATURE, LANGUAGE, AND WRITING FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

If you love the power of language and want to understand how it works even better, an English major or minor is the place for you.

We offer 5 options for students in the major:

- Literary & Cultural Studies

- Professional Writing
- A design-your-own English major option, English Studies

If you choose to major in something else, you can minor in any of the areas above. Plus we teach courses that count toward several of Eastern's interdisciplinary minors: Teaching English as a Second or Foreign Language; Film Studies; Pre-Modern Global Studies; Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies; Africana Studies; and Latin American Studies.

- + OVER $100,000 IN ANNUAL SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE SPECIFICALLY FOR ENGLISH MAJORS
- + SMALL CLASSES, TAUGHT BY PROFESSORS WHO KNOW THEIR STUFF—AND YOUR NAME
- + STRUCTURED SUPPORT FOR CAREER PLANNING FOR ALL AREAS OF STUDY

CAREERS

Our alumni teach at the high school and middle school level, of course. But many English majors pursue quite different career paths. Our alumni also work as writers, editors, content creators, marketing assistants, and in other communication roles for businesses and nonprofit agencies of all kinds. Many go on to graduate study before pursuing careers in law, librarianship, college teaching, or college staff work.

MORE SPECIAL OPPORTUNITIES

Our internship program offers professional experience for English majors before graduation. Our annual literary festival brings internationally known authors to campus to share their work and offer workshops (free for students). The accelerated BA/MA program allows those considering an MA in English to get a head start, saving time and money. We host English Club, a local chapter of Sigma Tau Delta (the national English honorary society) and Creative Writing Club.
