EXPLORING THE PAST AND THE WORLD

Undergraduate students at Eastern can choose from courses taught by specialists in a wide variety of subjects that span the globe and the ages. Whether you're drawn to Ancient Greece or the Modern Middle East, East Asia or Europe, the Civil War or the World Wars, Latin American or African American History, Public History or Historical Publishing, you'll find it here. Explore the past and the world with us.

UNIQUE PROJECTS

History majors work closely with professors on research projects and compete successfully for University and Department awards for research and writing. They might choose to pursue an honors thesis with their favorite professor, or they might choose to develop a digital history project in their capstone course. And there are many study abroad opportunities available to History majors as well.

- 45 CREDIT HOURS IN HISTORY
- 42 CREDIT HOURS IN HISTORY WITH INTERNATIONAL STUDIES
- 15 CREDIT HOURS IN HISTORY WITH TEACHER LICENSURE COUNT TOWARD GENERAL EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS
- 17 SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS AVAILABLE TO MAJORS

PROFESSIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

Our history majors regularly obtain internships at museums, living history sites, archives, in state and national government, and they gain practical experience in central Illinois classrooms. Students also find professional opportunities in the classroom: Whether it is producing the award-winning student publication Historia, producing a first-class exhibit in the public history practicum, engaging in simulated problem solving in an historical role-playing game, or designing and implementing lessons in area schools during your coursework, students engage in experiential learning that supports their professional goals.

Whatever your aspirations after graduation, your history degree from EIU will provide you with the knowledge and transferable skills you need to be successful.
